

Measurements are approximate and should be verified if important.

